Running around as Jaune in a prom dress? Yes please.. I am really dissapointed with the pricing for all the costume DLCs. What I and I believe everyone else was expecting was that buying a pack would give the costmes for both RWBY and JNPR. But instead its per team, making the price almost not worth it. I say almost because I simply cannot turn down Juane in a dress.. It's Jaune in a dress. What more could you ask for?. "OK no more reckless spending, besides, the costumes don't even seem wor....OMG JAUNE IN A DRESS!" Add to Cart intensifies. I bought this because of Jaune!! (u06f6\ua228\u0eb6\ua381\ua228\u0eb6)\u06f6 LOL. It is worth the price just becuae you can play as jaune in a dress.

You know why you want this. It's $2, so get it.. OMG! Four words! JAUNE IN A DRESS!!!!!! You also can't overlook the fact that Ren is looking snazzy in that tux!

That current second in-game screenshot...the one of Jaune running away from Grimm in a dress is fabulous! Finding this particular costume pack made my day! I will be taking screenshots galore next time my friends and I play! XD

On a serious note, I'll be waiting for a sale before purchasing the rest, but it's nice to have costume options for the game especially if playing with friends who prefer to use the same character. It offers no other benefits, and I'm sure the novelty will wear off rather quickly. Of all the costume packs, this is the only one I think is worth the full price (due to the amusement factor). I do need to disclose this pack holds some special sentiments to me as I have cosplayed as Pyrrha in that dress.. Jaune in a dress, it's illegal not to get this.. This DLC is for the game RWBY: Grimm Eclipse and is really only for the truly dedicated fans of the show that really wants to spice things up a by wearing these fabulous dresses and tuxedo skin from the series Beacon Dance episode (volume 2 episode 7)

Keep in mind that these are only cosmetic and offer no ingame bonuses what so ever, you should also be aware that they only work if you have the JNPR DLC already.
